

Hi Everybody,

I have been asked to provide a chronological order of my books, so here is an attempt. First I want to explain some things. I'm a reader, an avid reader! I read about 30 books a month, many of them in series. I write books the way I like to read them. I like stand-alones, and I like a series, where I don't necessarily have to have read the previous books before it to understand what is going on. Therefore I try to write a book where 90% of the book revolves around the current characters, and 10% of the book gives you enough backstory so you know who the players are.

Also, all of these books and series are inter-related, I started writing the SEAL series in 2015, as I moved from the Midnight Delta series to the Black Dawn Series into the Night Storm series and now the Omega Sky series, the men and women of Midnight Delta have still aged, and had different life events that have gone on in their lives. Sometimes I will get a "wild hair" and go back to revisit a series, as I did in January 2021, and write a book for Midnight Delta even though that series ended in 2017. In Her Unbroken SEAL, I finally had Clint and Lydia getting married, and put that couple through hell. You will have noticed that Billy Anderson, a boy who started out in the first Midnight Delta book in 2015 as 12 years old, was now graduating high school in the 2021 release.
